Members Code of Ethics:

Membership of the South Australian Wine Industry Association Incorporated signifies that the member company ascribes to high ideals and standards of ethics. Members must at all times follow the association's code of ethics and act in a manner which enhances the standing, professionalism and integrity of the Australian wine industry.

Members are expected to:

- Work for the good of the association and actively support and promote its objectives and purposes as set out in the constitution.
- At all times act with honesty and integrity in their dealings with other growers or winemakers; with clients, customers, the public and the broader community.
- Demonstrate respect for others in the discharge of their business and personal undertakings.
- Provide leadership to foster high ethical standards in all sections of the wine industry.

Confidentiality:

As per Rule 25 of the Constitution, it shall be a condition of admission to membership and of membership of the association that all notices, reports, circulars, newsletters, letters. Emails and other communications, in any form (including verbal), between Members and the Association (or any of its officers) shall be kept private and confidential.

Subscription Calculation:

Membership fees to the South Australian Wine Industry Association are calculated on an individual basis each year. This ensures that subscriptions are equitable and reflective of any changes and requires the subscription calculation form (attached) to be filled in at the beginning of each financial year.
